

CONCENTRATION REQUIREMENTS FOR COMPARATIVE LITERATURE AND SOCIETY

Concentrators are required to consult with the ICLS DUS on their coursework. Should you have any questions regarding whether a course counts toward your concentration, please send the syllabus to the DUS for approval and keep an email record of the response. Courses taken to fulfill the application requirements do not count toward the concentration. With the exception of courses taken to satisfy the global core requirement, double counting of courses to the CPLS concentration and another program or university requirement must be pre-approved by the DUS. Courses must be taken for a letter grade.
